A new bar association for lawyers who serve Illinois' Assyrian-American population has elected its first board of officers.

The Assyrian-American Bar Association elected the following officers to two-year terms: President Tony S. Kalogerakos, Vice President Christina Abraham, Treasurer Joy Mkrdichian, Secretary Phillip Rehani and law school liaison Mark Ishu.

The group began organizing in 2016.

The association was founded to promote the highest standards among Assyrian-American attorneys in their service to Assyrian-American communities and cultivate a network of Assyrian attorneys with a range of legal knowledge.

The new Assyrian-American Bar Association also plans to host legal seminars on topics of particular interest to the community and mentor Assyrian-American young people who aspire to join the legal profession.
